May, Garssons Get Prison Terms From Judge Schweinhaut

Sentence Pronounced on Their Conviction of Bribery Charges

Washington, July 25—(AP) — Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May was sentenced today to a term of from eight months to two years in prison on charges of accepting $53,634.07 in bribes while he was wartime chairman of the house military affairs committee.

The two men accused of paying May the bribes—munitions makers Murray and Henry Garsson—also were given prison terms with a minimum of eight months and a maximum of two years.

The maximum penalty that could have been imposed on each by Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut was six years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

The sentencing was delayed for more than two hours while the two defendants lawyers pleaded for a new trial and May beseeched the court for mercy.

The 72-year-old former Kentucky Democratic congressman insisted that he had never taken "a single dime" dishonestly during his long service in congress.

He told Schweinhaut:

Says Conscience Is Clear

"I stand before the court today with a clear, clean conscience.

"I never violated a law as far as I know in the 72 years of my life.

"I never received a dollar directly or indirectly that was not honestly earned to justly due."

After an 11-week trial, May and the Garsson brothers were found guilty July 3 of charges growing out of May's job as wartime chairman of the house military committee.

The Kentucky Democrat was convicted of taking the bribes from the Garssons, who, the government said, got May to use his influence in helping them get favors for their $70,000,000 armsmaking concerns.

All Protest Innocence

All three protested that they are innocent. Their lawyers claimed their convictions were "unfair" and the result of "prejudice."

They also said that Schweinhaut, in a "misleading, conflicting and confusing" charge to the jury, "over-emphasized" the govern-

Unification Act Is Sent on to Truman

Washington, July 25—(AP) — The house completed congressional action today on a measure to unify the nation's armed services, thus clearing one of the few remaining hurdles in the way of adjournment tomorrow.

The action, sending the bill to President Truman for anticipated quick approval, came on a voice vote in accepting a joint congressional committee's recommendations for ironing out differences between the house and senate on the unification plan.

Final approval cleared the way for a long-postponed house showdown on another piece of major legislation — a senate-approved bill ordering extension of wool support prices

As now drafted, the unification bill grants the president wide leeway to pick top officials to supervise the armed services from either civilian or military ranks.

The senate passed the revised bill yesterday.

The main provisions would create a secretary of defense replacing the present secretaries of war and navy in the cabinet, establish the air corps as a separate branch, and create a powerful, policy-making national defense council.

Two other measures, both also already approved by the senate, had a lingering chance of approval before adjournment

One would give permanent status to the army's WACS and the navy's WAVES. A preliminary decision is up to the house armed services committee.

The other would increase government financial help to student veterans.

Negro Who Escaped Mob in Georgia Faces Chair

Carrollton, Ga., July 25 (AP) —A 22-year-old Negro who barely escaped a mob which stormed the county jail here June 30, was convicted yesterday by a Carroll county jury of murdering a white farmer and was sentenced to die in the electric chair

Judge Samuel Boykin, however, stayed the death sentence imposed upon Eddie Brown, Jr., pending a hearing August 23 on an appeal for a new trial filed by the Negro's court-appointed counsel.

Probe of Clark's Probe Beaten by Democratic Party

Washington, July 25—(AP)—A hectic 18 hours and 12 minute senate session ended at sunrise today with Republican leaders conceding defeat in their demands for an investigation into Attorney General Clark's handling of Kansas City vote fraud charges.

Determined to carry out their plans to adjourn congress for the year tomorrow night, GOP chieftains bowed before unbending Democratic opposition.

The decision to quit until noon (11 a. m. CDT) came at 6:12 a. m. (5:12 a. m. CDT).

The Republicans hours before had won a battle but obviously lost the war in their efforts to force the inquiry.

They battered down a Democratic attempt to postpone formally until January any decision on the resolution by Senator Kem (R-Mo) demanding the Clark invesigation.

But the bitter debate dragged on through the night.

Then, shortly after daybreak, the Republican leadership agreed to lay aside the Kem matter long enough to take up one of several appropriation bills that must be passed before congress can quit for the year tomorrow night, as planned.

Adjourn For Sleep

That measure, carrying funds for the Greek-Turkish aid program and foreign relief, was discussed only 20 minutes, however, when the weary lawmakers decided to call it quits so members could get a few hours sleep.

The earlier Republican victory on the Kem proposal was on a straight party-line vote of 45 to 30.

But it was a hollow victory.

After the chamber had been in session nearly 17 hours, Senator Wherry (Neb), the Republican whip, conceded to his colleagues that GOP forces would be unable to press the Kem proposal to a final vote this session.

The GOP strategy through the early morning hours obviously was designed to try to demonstrate to the country that the Democrats had avoided a showdown on the investigation issue.

Taft made repeated attempts to gain agreement for a time to vote on the pending proposal to take up the Kem resolution.

Preserves Speech Right

By agreement, Senator McCarran (D-Nev) preserved his right to continue speaking in opposition to the vote inquiry resolution, if it is brought up again.

McCarran lashed back at Republican charges that Clark had "whitewashed" a preliminary investigation of the Kansas City case with an assertion that the Republicans were trying "to tear down the great prestige of a great president to lead the people

Westbound

Cleveland, July 25—(AP)—Anyone who has seen a cottage going west kindly communicate with Julius Z. Papp.

It is a 12 by 21 structure, ten feet high, with a gable roof, six windows add two doors, last reported westbound in the vicinity of West 117th street, aboard a large truck.

It was standing on skids in the lot next to a house Papp owns. He bought it for $1,500, moved it in from Berea Road, and planned to add a room "and maybe sell or rent it".

Yesterday in broad daylight two men drove up, hooked on a winch, dragged the cottage aboard the truck and drove tu Detroit avenue, said a neighbor girl, Margaret Yonta, 15.

Last night Papp went out the avenue asking people whether they had seen his cottage going by. As far as 177th street he founr people who believed him, because they had seen it

Beyond that, Papp had to give up.

Credit Buying Curb May Be Erased By Truman This Year

President May End All Controls Earlier Capitol Hears

Washington, July 25—(AP) — A return to unrestricted installment buying by Nov. 1 appears likely today with the possibility that President Truman might end controls on time payment purchases even earlier.

Compromise legislation to kill the credit buying curbs at the end of October passed the house by voice vote and was sent to the senate. Senate action is expected to send the measure on to the White House by tomorrow night.

Predict Truman Will Act

Meanwhile, the federal reserve board predicted that Mr. Truman will lift the restraints, as he promised last June 5 to do unless congress passed a law specifically authorizing the restrictions in peace-time. He said he wanted the curbs for a time as a safeguard against inflation.

Current controls, invoked by presidential order under special wartime powers, set the amounts of down-payments and limit the time for liquidating the balances —such as one-third down and 15 months to pay the remainder due on such things as automobiles, radios and refrigerators.

Conference Confusion

Some confusion over the consumer control problem arose yesterday at a White House news conference when Mr. Truman, in response to a question, said he never had promised to remove the controls, but only to take action.

That, he added, is an entirely different thing.

When asked later for a clarification, White House officials said the reserve board—which administers the controls—could clear up the matter. There, newsmen were told the president apparently misunderstood the reporter and thought he was referring to all wartime credit controls.

In the midst of the confusion over the credit issue, the White House itself cleared up uncertainty surrounding Mr. Truman's response to another news conference query.

President Misses Point

A reporter had asked: "Have you given much consideration to Secretary Anderson's proposal for a world trade organization whereby the government would do their purchasing for grains and supplies for the Marshall (European aid) plant?"

The president replied that this is under consideration.

Neither the other reporters nor any interested government agency could recall any such proposal. When questioned about it later, Charles G. Ross, White House

Prefers Death to Entering Hospital

An 18-year-old Kankakee girl, described as a former patient at Dixon state hospital who objected to being returned there, died last night at St. Mary's hospital, Kankakee after having taken 65 pills Monday in the Kankakee county jail, the Associated Press reported today.

The girl, Betty Farnum, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Farnum, Kankakee, who was afflicted with epilepsy, was given 75 pills by her father on a visit to the jail, according to the story Sheriff Gene LaFontaine gave the AP.

She swallowed all but ten of the pills, which were supposed to relieve her condition and induce sleep.

The sheriff told the AP the girl was to be returned to the state hospital here, but had objected

Post-War Boom in Romance Hits Peak; Marriages Are Declining

Washington, July 25 —(AP)— The post-war boom in romance has reached its peak; marriages are on the decline.

The National Office of Vtatal Statistics reported today that 427,319 couples bought marriage licenses during the first quarter of 1947. That is 20 percent fewer than the number issued during the quarter of 1946.

The report attributed the huge postwar increase in weddings to GI romances.

It said marriages started climbing "unusually high" as early as 1945, when veterans were returning from Europe, and lasted through most of 1946.

Last year set a new record in American marriages, a total of 2,313,795 or about 418 percent more than in 1945 In the war year of 1944 only 1,452,394 licenses were issued.

While marriages have increased the ratio of divorce to marriage has declined. In 1945 there were 34 divorces for every 100 marriages. In 1946 the ratio dropped to 27 divorces for every 100 marriages. The statisticians attribute this to the big increase in marriages and not to a decline in divorces.

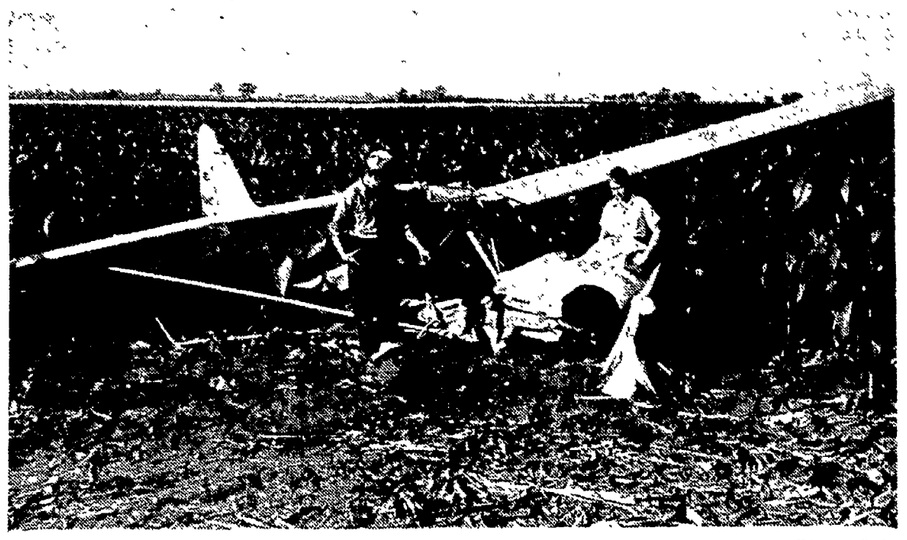

The birth rate also is declining from the record high points set in the closing months of 1946.

During 1946 an estimated 3,400,000 babies were born, the greatest number in American history.

The January total of births, 343,000, was about at the same level with the record-breaking totals of the closing months of 1946.

Since then births have declined gradually, to 297,000 in April, the last month reported.

Murder Cases Jam Macon Co. Docket

Decatur, Ill., July 25 —(AP)— A 21-year-old stenographer and a 20-year-old soldier were named in two of three indictments charging murder which were returned yesterday by a Macon County Grand jury.

Miss Mary Virginia Slaton of Decatur, was accused in one of the true bills of the fatal shooting of a post office worker, and Cpl. Robert Earl Moore of Edgewood, Md., was charged with murdering a taxicab driver. The other indictment charged Matthew Gibson, a Louisiana Negro, with a fatal beating in a Wabash railroad bunkhouse here.

The indictment against Miss Slaton alleges she shot Norman Kennedy near the Decatur post office last June 20. A. C. Ammann, Macon county sheriff said that Kennedy made a statement in which he named the stenographer as his assailant.

The sheriff quoted Kennedy as saying the girl shot him because he had told her he was terminating their "romantic relations", and planned to leave for a vacation with his wife.

Car Hits Train; All Three Occupants Die

The dead were identified as Nick Tomasorich 56 Vernon Cox, 40, and Luther Stevens, 27, all of Granite City, Ill

State police said M. A Cook, East St. Louis, the engineer, told them he did not see the automobile approaching, but heard the sound of it striking the tender.

The automobile which authorities said was driven by Tomasorich, entangled in the wheels of the tender and was dragged 30 feet from the crossing.

Jesse Jones May Be Ace Witness in Hughes Plane Quiz

Senators Start Study of Why Planes Were Not Delivered to U. S.

Washington, July 25.—(AP)— Senatorial investigators hinted today at Jesse Jones as an ace witness in their efforts to prove that White House pressure forced award of a 40,000,000 wartime plane contract to Howard Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser.

The former cabinet member's possible appearance hinges, one senator said, on whether any documentary evidence is found in the files of the late President Roosevelt.

A senate war investigating subcommittee will open a hearing Monday into the contract for planes that never were delivered.

Jones Likely to Talk

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), who heads the inquiry group told a reporter he "doesn't know yet" whether Jones will be asked to testify.

Professor Tries To Asphyxiate Invalid Daughter: Suicides

Granville, Vt., July 25 —(AP) — The sheriff's department today listed as "suicide an attempted murder", the death of a 60-year-old Norwich University professor and the near-death of his mentally-ill daughter.

James W. Ingalls was dead and his daughter, Florence, 28, was in semi-conscious condition.

Sheriff Ralph Sweet said they were lying in back of Ingall's automobile, tied together, and within range of the exhaust pipe. The car was parked in an abandoned gravel pit. A blanket covered father and daughter, Sweet said.

State Pathologist Charles Whitney said Ingalls died of monoxide poisoning. The girl was taken to a hospital in Randolph. Her condition was described as "improving".

Sweet made public the contents of a note found near the car.

It said: "What yould you do if you had a daughter crippled for life!"

Friends said the daughter had been a spastic invalid since birth.

Downstate Firemen Must Increase Bits for Pension Funds

Springfield, Ill., July 25 —(AP) — Legislation increasing pension fund contributions of downstate firemen from one to five percent of their salaries became law today with Governor Green's signature.

The measure was among 11 bills acted on by Green. He signed five and vetoed six.

The firemen's pension bill requires cities to levy a tax which added to pension fund income from wage deductions and other sources will produce enough revenue to pay annual pension fund costs.

Benefit payments to firemen within 20 years service at the age of 50 are increased one percent a month each year until the age of 65. Firemen have to apply for pensions within three months of appointment.

A pension study commission, headed by Senator Wilbur Cash (R-Towanda) refused to approve the legislation, mainly because of the higher and indefinite taxing power it gives local governments.

National Guard Upped

However, Cash said that all but three downstate cities were having financial trouble with their firemen's pension systems because many firemen pay into the funds only one to two percent of their salaries.

Green also signed a bill increasing the Illinois National Guard's

Miss Ferguson is the victim of a strange ailment. As she relates it, she yawned on June 28 and her mouth wouldn't close for hours. When it finally snapped shut, she found that she couldn't open it for more than a quarter-inch.

Since then she's been examined by 15 physicians and has tried numerous remedies, including head harness. Today she was gnawing balsa wood, the latest aggested cure.

Despite a loss of 33 pounds in weight, she's taken it all good naturedly. But, she says, "I'm afraid I'll get the hiccoughs and break my neck"

Universal Military Training Bill To Be Ready for Congress in '48

Washington, July 25 (AP) — The house armed services committee today approved a universal military training bill by a vote of 20 to 0.

Chairman Walter G. Andrews (R-NY) told reporters immediately that there is no intention of bringing the bill to a house vote this year. He said the committee actions intended solely to get a bill before congress. The bill, drafted by a subcommittee, goes on the house calendar and will be ready for consideration early next year.

Eight Republicans and 12 Democrats, with three of the Democrats represented by proxies, voted to send the bill to the house floor. There are 33 on the committee.

Closely following the recommendations of President Truman's special commission on universal training, the legislation calls for six months of basic training in an Army or Navy establishment for all qualified American males after they reach the age of 18.

Youths still in high school when they become 18 could obtain a deferment, but in no event could they avoid training before they become 20.

Following the six months of basic training, the legislation provides for the equivalent of six months of training, which a youth could acquire in various ways, such as through enrollment in the National Guard, the ROTC, or some other reserve unit.

A special commission would supervise the entire program under a system of discipline less rigid than that applicable to the regular armed forces.

Cause of Explosion in West Frankfort Shaft Is Laid to Gas

Approximately 200 Miners at Work 500 Feet Underground at Time

West Frankfort, Ill., July 25—(AP)—Twenty-seven coal miners were killed in an underground mine explosion yesterday, and a federal mine inspector who examined the seared corridors today said ignition of gas caused the blast.

March 24, 1947, Centralia, 111 killed.

gings 500 feet underground were found dead about a mile and a half south of the main entrance shaft. One of five seriously injured miners removed to a hospital died today.

Many miners working in other parts of the mine said they did not know there was an explosion when they received orders by telephone to leave the mine.

Gallagher said "the area where the explosion occurred had been amply and recently rock-dusted, and this appears to have been a factor in localizing its effect.

Rock-Dusted Wednesday

Hal ol L. Walker, state mine director, said the area where the explosion occurred had been rock-dusted Wednesday—the day before the blast.

(Rock-dusting—the sprinkling of rock dust on the floors and walls of mine entries and passages is a safety procedure designed to keep down coal dust, which becomes explosive when suspended in certain concentrations in the air.)

The bodies of the 26 men recovered from the mine had all been brought to the surface today and were placed in an emergency morgue set up in the gymnasium at the Central Junior high school.

Relatives who remained at the mine throughout the night during rescue operations, sought to identify the victims.

Indict Pair That Stole A-Bomb Info

Santa Fe, N. M., July 25.—(AP) —Indictments returned by a federal Grand jury put the government in position today to prosecute two ex-soldiers accused of stealing atomic secrets without revealing the information involved.

The two—former Sgts. Alexander Von Der Luft, 23, Princeton university student from Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Ernest D. Wallis, 34, Chicago photographer—were billed yesterday on simple charges of taking and concealing government property and records.

To obtain an order removing the defendants here for trial, U. S. Atty. Everett M. Grantham said it will be necessary only to establish their identity as the men named in the indictments.

Both were discharged from the army early this year after service at the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic porject. Without disclosing the content, the indictments alleged Von Der Luft took 14 items of written material and Wallis made off with 10 photographs or negatives.

FBI agents took the two into custody July 12 and they are at liberty under $10,000 bonds. Government officials have announced all the material was recovered without being seen by anyone else.

Congress in Rush To Meet Deadline It Set for July 31

New Act Causes Rush to Finish Business by Tomorrow

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Why the rush in congress to quit tomorrow for the rest of 1947?

It's because of an act which congress passed a year ago to fold up early this year and every year. This is how it happened:

Until last year congress never had set itself a date for quitting any time in any year.

Every year when it came to work in January, since it had no quitting time in mind, it just stumbled along with its work

This meant it droned on through the hot summer months What it finally finished it could have finished earlier if it had tried harder

Last year congress passed an act called the reorganization of congress act of 1946

Improve Efficiency

The whole purpose of this act was to make congress more efficient and businesslike.

(Congress had been getting out of date and out of shape and hadn't tried to improve itself for years)

The reorganization act did a lot of things. It raised congressmen's salaries, gave them special assistants, cut down the number of committees.

And the congressmen figured this:

Committees Can Work

If, when we start work every January, we set a deadline for quitting, we'll speed up our work and quit by deadline time.

So they wrote this into the act.

Starting in 1947, the full congress should quit every year by the last day in July.

(Note that it said the full congress, which passes laws, was to quit by then

(But congressional committees, which make investigations, can keep on working all through the year)

Suppose, though, the congress has so much piled-up, important business that it can't quit by the last day in July. What then?

The reorganization act allows for that. In such a case congress can pass a simple resolution to continue working until its job is finished

Last Minute Rush

This year congress sees no reason for continuing work beyond the deadline laid down in the act, the last day in July.

In fact, it figures it doesn't have to wait until then, that it can wind up its affairs by tomorrow night and quit for the year.

That's why congress has been working overtime this week, slamming some bills through and slinging aside and killing others

Although the full congress expects to fold by tomorrow night, this does not mean congressional work for 1947 is through.

A whole swarm of congressional committees will be working between now and 1948.

They'll be investigating subjects ranging from the cost of living to farming, housing and foreign affairs

So, you'll be hearing about congressmen until next January, when the full congress returns Then you'll be hearing about more congressmen.

ENDURING TREASURES

How much better is it to get wisdom than gold! and to get understanding rather than be chosen than silver!

There never did, and never will exist anything permanently noble and excellent in the character which is a stranger to the exercise of resolute self-denial.

Those Who Forsake Wisdom Come to Ruin

Scripture: Proverbs 1:1-5; 3:13-18; 9:9-10; James 1:5

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It is one thing to praise and command wisdom, but quite another thing to practice it. And the most unwise thing that can happen is to abandon wisdom once you have found it.

This is forcefully illustrated in the history of King Solomon, reputedly the author of the Book of Proverbs, and reputedly "the wisest man who ever lived."

At least two great and noble incidents are recorded of Solomon, and if all his life and action had been in accordance with these he would surely have deserved the fullest of his reputation for wisdom.

The one incident was the dream recorded in I Kings 3:5-12, in which, asked to choose whatever he desired from the Lord, he spoke in deep humility and asked above all things for an understanding heart to exercise good judgment, and rule his people well.

But the other outstanding incident was his prayer at the dedication of the Temple, recorded in I Kings 8, and among the noblest and most beautiful things in the entire literature of religion.

Perhaps, like some addresses of other kings and rulers, it was written for him by some religious leader of saintly spirit and prophetic insight. But by delivering it Solomon made it his own, and if he had continued in the letter and spirit of that prayer he might have gone down to history as famous for his goodness and wisdom as he is for his outward splendor and magnifcence of his reign.

Instead Solomon took to himself many wives. Not content with the building of the Temple, he built for himself. In a great palace he surrounded himself with riches and luxury for which the people paid oppressive taxes; bearing it all while Solomon lived and the magnificence continued, but with the result of rebellion, and division of kingdom when Rheoboam, his son, succeeded him.

Thus it was that beneath the expansion, and safety, and apparently flourishing prosperity of the kingdom of Israel under Solomon were the seeds of oppression.

Solomon in the early part of his career stands as a fine example and an exhortation to wisdom But in the latter part he stands as a solemn warning of what happens even to a great man when he departs from wisdom.

Orphans' Visit in Nebraska Village Leaves Folk Happy

(AP Newsfeatures)

Bassett, Neb.—A bus-load of new life rolled into this Nebraska cow town one day recently, stayed a week, and then lumbered away, leaving Bassett a little lonely but happy.

The bus contained 48 orphans from the Mother's Jewels orphanage at York, Neb.

Bassett townspeople "adopted" the youngsters for a week. The experiment was sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church of Bassett.

Forty-Six Bassett families took in the new family members. Some of the youngsters had the time of their lives on ranches and farms. Others lived in town with the families of merchants, bankers, and ministers. Wherever their new "homes" were, they found a "Mom" and a "Pop" and usually brothers and sisters.

When the chartered bus completed its 225-mile trip from York, the children gathered in the Methodist church. There Mrs. Perry Everett called off the names of their for-a-week "parents". These new parents stood expectantly in the back of the church, wondering which of the happy youngsters was to be "theirs" for a week.

When the big bus began its return journey a week later, there were some misty-eyed ones among the folks who saw the orphans off.

"It's been a happy week for all of us," said Mrs. Everett, original sponsor of the plan. "Our only trouble was that we didn't have enough children to go around. We have 15 more families than children."

There are indications the idea will spread. Inquiries are coming from church circles all over the nation, asking how the mass "adoption" worked out.

Bassett itself plans tentatively to do it again next year and meanwhile people here, on their own, are inviting the homeless youngsters to return visits.

Sidelights in AP News from Berlin

(AP Newsfeatures)

Berlin — Many Berliners have come to believe that anything can happen—and frequently does—on their overcrowded transport system.

Hundreds of cars on the subway and surface railroads have been plundered and scarred by vandals who cut the leather out of seats to make handbags and stole lightbulbs to illuminate their homes.

But recently this thievery was carried to a new extreme when a woman standing in a crowded surface lines car emergened to find that during her journey a thief had neatly snipped away a whole side of her dress.

The accident rate is high on Berlin transport, due to overcrowding as much as lack of repair for deteriorated coaches. In a recent four-week period twelve passengers were killed and nine injured.

Now the Berlin Transport Company has instituted a new safety measure—it has forbidden women to knit while riding on the city lines because other passengers have been getting stabbed by their sharp needles.

The newspaper Telegraf commented wryly:

"What will they do now—these women deprived of their knitting? Will they sit quietly with idle hands in their laps or will they fiddle nervously with their clothing? Alas, for some of them it will be hard. Now they can't concentrate on knitting they will be forced really to observe and contemplate their surroundings—and that definitely is NO pleasant prospect."

Third of State's Corn Subject to Frost Risk

Springfield, Ill., July 25—(AP)—About a third of Illinois' prospective 415,104,000 bushel corn crop is "definitely a high frost risk," the state-federal agricultural departments said Thursday.

In their special mid-July corn report, the departments jumped the production forecast 9,024,000 bushels from the 406,080,000 outlook of July 1.

The report said that the frost threat was a result of late planting this spring, but noted that good corn weather from late June until this week's cooler temperatures resulted in improved color and more rapid growth than prior to July 1.

Excessive early season rains combined with plowing or cultivation when soil was too wet have caused a heavy crust to form on the topsoil in many instances, the department said, adding:

"A considerable acreage of corn consequently has been laid by with the topsoil in a cloddy condition."

During U. S Army cold-weather equipment tests in Alaska it was found that ice formed on inner tubes in sub-zero weather, making "flat spots" on tires and uncomfortable automobile riding. Tires were then successfully inflated with air from which moisture had been extracted.

General use of the word "trunk" for travellers' luggage arose because of an obscure meaning of the French word "tronc" or almsbox.

A Thought for Today

My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. —Psalms 121:2

To the man who himself strives earnestly, God also lends a helping hand.—Aeschylus.

Paid Dividends

What careful planning against the possibility of fire can accomplish was dramatically demonstrated in Los Angeles harbor in late June when a tanker which had just taken aboard nearly 3,000,000 gallons of fuel blew up at the dock.

Billowing flames instantly spread to near-by shore installations. The intense heat blistered paint on several huge oil tanks on a 30-acre tank farm belonging to the Shell Oil Company. Had the tanks blown up, devastation would have been wreaked throughout the entire heavily-populated Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor area.

However, the tanks were equipped with waterspots on top, and these prevented further explosion. Thus, one precaution was responsible for saving lives and tremendous property damage.

This is the way scientific fire prevention stands between the community and catastrophe. The kind of planning which led to the installation of protective devices on oil storage tanks can be applied to every home and every business. In most instances, adequate precautions are simple and require little time or money. The man who fails to plan against fire in inviting disaster.

People Oppose Socialism

The theory that the drive to socialize the electric industry is backed by concerted public opinion is not justified by any available evidence.

The evidence, in fact, is directly to the contrary. For example, one of the national opinion polls asked a cross-section of the population, in 1938, if the government should own and operate the electric utilities. Only 15 per cent said yes. It asked the same question eight years later in 1946—and at that time only 11.2 of those queried gave an affirmative answer.

A great many local elections have been held in recent years involving the issue of private or public operation of utility companies. The people have thus had their chance to vote for or against municipal plants, utility districts, etc. In the great majority of cases, the popular verdict has been against socialization.

The truth seems to be that the socialization drive is purely of political origin. Its most enthusiastic backers are those who profit from it—such as the employes of the government projects, and the legion of professional politicans and bureaucrats who are always seeking more and more authority and more and more patronage.

The taxpayers, who must foot the enormous bill, have a very different point of view.

No industry in this country has a finer record of public service than the private utilities under state and national regulation. They have reduced the cost of service, even in times of general price inflation, to where it is lost in the average family or business budget. They represent the free enterprise system at top efficiency.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Editor's Note: Because of its prophetic value in relation to the current investigation of Howard Hughes and Elliott Roosevelt, The Telegraph is reprinting today the Westbrook Pegler column of May 6, 1946.)

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

There are several phases of Elliott Roosevelt's activities and associations, in addition to his defaulted loans, which would be thoroughly investigated by appropriate committees of congress if the Democrats were not in control and determined to suppress all information which would tend to discredit the character with which the party has endowed his late father. Practical politicians on both sides recognize that this character is one of the greatest assets of the Democratic party and the Republicans therefore are as eager to discredit it as the Democrats are to preserve it. Whether the Republicans, in a similar position, would act otherwise we do not know. Mr. Coolidge did not try to protect the Harding administration, but it would be naive to expect that the Democrats would give him credit for virtuous motives. Such is the cynicism of the game of politics that Republicans might not attribute such motives to him.

Certain operations of Howard Hughes, the rich Houston, Tex., and Hollywood manufacturer, motion picture producer and aviation magnate, would come under scrutiny were the Republicans returned to power in congress.

Hughes and Elliott Roosevelt are intimate friends. Hughes is also a friend and might be called a protege of Jesse Jones, of Houston, the former secretary of commerce. The Joneses have known him since his childhood and regard him highly.

In 1943, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation put up $18,000,000 to enable Hughes and Henry Kaiser to build three enormous wood and plastic cargo planes, more than twice the size of the B-29 and capable of carrying 650 persons. Construction began at Culver City, Cal., but Kaiser withdrew when it developed that the $18,000,000 would not produce even one of these ships Jones, as head of the R. C. C., told Hughes he himself would have to pay any excess cost and Hughes carried on The ship has not been completed, however, and it may never fly. The experience may be worth something to aeronautical science, but there is, of course no standard by which to appraise the value of such information.

The army air forces had become interested in another Hughes plane in 1939. General H. H. Arnold states that it seemed suitable for military use and that the design was highly interesting because duramold construction was to be used and the ship presented the promise of improvement in the aerodynamic and structural arts Aluminum was scarce and General Arnold thought it might be possible to get quantity production in spite of the shortage.

On July 8, 1942, President Roosevelt personally inquired about this ship which General Arnold describes as suitable for high-speed, long-range, high-altitude service. The next year, the Germans were knocking down many American photo-reconnaissance pilots in P-38s

"We need something that would do the job outrun the German fighters". General Arnold wrote "The British Mosquito had proved itself but we were unable to get Mosquitoes in sufficient quantities. The Hughes airplane was the only one already designed which appeared entirely suitable and which could be produced in time to do any good".

On Sept 3, 1943, General Arnold "verbally' directed that 100 of these ships be bought from Hughes The aluminum shortage had passed and the wooden construction had been abandoned in favor of metal.

The contract with Hughes was terminated last September without the delivery of a single ship. The army still expects to take two, however, for experiments. The 100 ships were to have cost $48,000,000 plus a maximum fee of four per cent. Thus about $66,000,000 of public money was committed to Hughes projects which produced nothing

Elliott Roosevelt returned from Europe in the autumn of 1943 and served for a period at the War department as chief of the reconnaisance branch. He was head man and it was during this time that General Arnold gave his verbal order for 100 Hughes planes. For a number of reasons, technical and industrial Maj-Gen. O. P. Echols had opposed the adoption of this plane to the end, but was over-ruled.

Setting forth his position, General Arnold wrote that money was never a first consideration when American lives and American victory were at stake.

"I let contracts for anything which offered a probability of speeding victory. I would be the last to claim that this process was economical in dollars. In fact, I have never claimed that war is economical".

When Elliott Roosevelt, then a colonel in tre army air corps, returned from England on Nov. 15, 1944, the Associated Press story said that John E. Meyer, "public relations representative for Howard Hughes", was his host in New York where Elliott in those days generally stopped at the Waldorf on his visits to town. Hughes also goes to the Waldorf and maintains an apartment there.

"He (Elliott) was a guest of Mr. Meyer at a party at the El Morocco night club last night", the A. P. said. "Mr. Meyer said Col. Roosevelt would go to Washington late today".

Less than a month later, on Dec. 3 when Elliott married Miss Faye Emerson at Grand Canyon national park, Ariz., the press accounts said Meyer again was at his side to give the bride away and that Jack Frye, the president of TWA, the big air-line, was best man. Howard Hughes owns the controlling interest in TWA.

Last December, Pan-American Airways, generally regarded as the pioneer in trans-Atlantic navigation, petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board to modify routes which had been allotted to itself, TWA and American Airlines.

Pan-American's petition said the routes assigned would give TWA and American a monopoly on American-flag air service to Italy and the soviet union and to most of France and Germany.

"We ask the board to reconsider whether it actually desires to be guilty of the gross favoritism to TWA", the petition said. Further it charged that the board had practically thrown Pan-American out of France and Ireland "for the benefit of TWA".

Sam Pryor, a prominent eastern Republican and former national treasurer of the party, is one of the chief executives of Pan-American.

DEATH of a DOLL

THE STORY: Mark interviews Miss Brady at Hope House. She tells him of meeting Ruth on the street carrying a suitcase and suspecting her of theft. She also says Ruth's behavior during her stay at Hope House was decidedly peculiar. She is determined to let things stand as they are.

XIX

FOR a long time the elderly maid Agnes, knelt on the bare floor of the second floor packroom looking at what she held in her hand. The black-fringed, empty eyes looked back, the rosebud mouth curled in a crooked smile, the bright wool hair was covered with dust and cobwebs. Now what in the world, she asked herself Now what in the living world—

She reached again into the corner where she had found the mask and drew forth the dress It was wadded in a ball, and she shook it out, muttering "Supposed to be turned in with the others to be stored away proper in case of future need, although I doubt if anybody'd want to put one on again" She upbraided the late wearer. "Not even folded, not even wrapped up, pushed back in the corner like it wasn't meant to be found" She smoothed the mask and folded it, and began on the dress Sleeves turned in, doubled over at the waist, hem—

She carried the dress over to the light. There was a spot on the hem—at least, there had been a spot once. Now there was a blistered, brownish stain that somebody had tried to wash out. Like coffee. Agnes was enraged. "Rank carelessness," she fumed. "Prancing around with a cup of coffee, acting up, no respect to the Board that's kind enough to give parties at no additional cost." She paused. "But they didn't have coffee, they had punch; and sure's you're born that's coffee. Must have been one of those that keeps food in her room, attracting mice" She took the mask and dress to her own room and hid them in the bottom of a drawer. "I'll fix her," she told her reflection in the mirror. "I'll find out and fix her. Not half washed out, either, as if there wasn't any soap to be had or in too big a hurry to get somewhere else. Somebody from another floor, trying to place the blame—"

She paused and studied her reflection in the mirror. It looked back with strange intensity and told her, without words, that she had paused because her thoughts were uneasy "Humph!" she said defiantly, tossing her head "I say that's coffee and it is coffee" But she locked the drawer before she left and put the key in her pocket.

MISS SMALL had reached for a cigaret, but her hand had stopped in mid-air 'Somebody coming down the hall and I'm afraid it's for me Oh dear, I simply can't bear another tale of woe"

"Might be for me, for a change," Miss Brady boasted "Whoever it is, I'll get rid of her"

Together they listened to the slow, unhurried steps and waited for the knock. When it came, it had an almost human personality. It was light and measured, tempered with caution and certain of result.

"Come in." Miss Brady called.

Lillian Harris, wearing a crimson bathrobe and looking sleepy, edged into the room "I'm terribly sorry, Miss Brady,' she apologized, "but I didn't like to disturb Mrs. Fister. She's usually asleep by now. And I hate to interrupt you and Miss Small—"

"You're not interrupting," Miss Brady said. "What's wrong? April sick again?"

"No, not April." Lillian kept her place by the open door.

"Well, come on in and close that door There's a draft What's your trouble? You girls haven't been frightening each other, have you?"

"Oh, no, Miss Brady. April and I never did that. It's just that I've got a headache and nobody on our floor has any aspirin. I thought you might be awake and—"

"Certainly. There's headache stuff in the bathroom, all sorts. Go in and help yourself."

"I'll get it," Miss Small said. "Sit down, Lillian. We're very glad we can help." She left the room quietly.

"Coffee?" Miss Brady asked. "Although you probably shouldn't have it"

"I guess not," Lillian agreed. She drooped over the back of a chair. "We had some up in our room. Just Dot and the two of us"

Something in her voice sharpened Miss Brady's scrutiny. "You look as if you had things on your mind, Lillian"

Lillian raised sleepy, candid eyes "Oh, no, Miss Brady. I don't feel well, that's all. And April—you know it's queer rooming with a girl like April I know I wanted to do it and I still do, but it makes me, well, nervous"

Miss Small returned with aspirin "I understand," she said "I've been wondering if it wasn't a bad idea in the first place I've even been wondering if we ought to close that room up, temporarily. Although I don't know what we'd do for additional space But no matter what we do, Lillian, you must try not to think of what happened. It was a dreadful thing, but you must try to think of it impersonally"

"That's it," Miss Brady agreed. "It isn't as if we'd really known the poor wretch. I suppose that sounds heartless, doesn't it?"

"No, Miss Brady"

"Well, take your aspirin and get along Good night"

After she had gone Miss Small absently heated the coffee "I don't think Lillian had a headache. She's disappointing me again. She's gone back to that queer, secret manner. I'm ashamed of myself, I really am, but I keep thinking that Lillian may have known Ruth before; you know, known her somewhere else. Lillian was in the lobby when Ruth came and Ruth was frightened, I told you that—"

Youthbuilders, Inc. Stems From Ideas Of Children On USA

(By AP Newsfeatures)

Twenty-five youngsters of junior high school age were in the thick of a hot forum discussion in Public School 40 in the East Twenties, in New York. Ideas flew back and forth in volleys, as boys and girls, whose parents came from a dozen different countries, made their points.

The subject they had chosen for the discusion that day back in 1938 was: Hitler's treatment of the Jew, in Europe.

Gradually the youngsters became interested in the parallel between "ganging up" on some people in other countries and "ganging up" on some people in 20th Street in New York. Soon they were deep in a discussion of the neighborhood fights, which were numerous. They came to the conclusion that the fights were encouraged because their parents had brought old jealousies, hatreds and resentments with them from "the old country."

Idea of Magazine

The youngsters decided there must be some kind of message which would reach their parents, so they decided to print a magazine "Listen America, Now," playing the theme: If the United States is to be a strong country it must be united; there is plenty of room for different people.

Thus was born in 1938 the pattern for Youthbuilders, Inc.—a national organization now operating in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago in connection with public schools to teach youngsters the skills of group action and build them into responsible constructive citizens.

Founder of Group

Sabra Holbrook, Youthbuilders' founder and head, had been searching for that pattern a long time. Mrs. Holbrook, young, freshcheeked and blue-eyed, was born the daughter of Robert Rollins, president of the Worcester, Mass., Electric Light Co. After graduation she served as a social worker in the Judge Baker Foundation of Boston, dealing with delinquent children.

After her marriage to a New York advertising man and after motherhood, she began to seek the answer. A friend introduced her to a New York school board member and William Jansen, then assistant superintendent and now superintendent of New York Public Schools, sent her into a junior high school to visit with the youngsters and find out what interested them. She reported that they did not want to be talked to; they wanted to do the talking and were bubbling with ideas. It was decided to bring some junior high school youngsters together for talk. So the forum was held in Public School 40 after school hours.

Growth of Project

From that tentative beginning the project grew. The New York school board asked Mrs. Holbrook to train teachers and eventually selected special teachers to supervise their work. Today Youthbuilders is incorporated. Mrs. Holbrook and three other women give their services free to running the office. Last year Youthbuilders' work was carried on in 109 schools in New York, 25 in Philadelphia and ten in Chicago, as part of the school curriculum.

"Youthbuilders' work always follows the same pattern—discussion, investigation and action," Mrs. Holbrook explains. "The youngsters choose their own subjects. They generally choose something on a national or international level and then the discussion is brought back to their community."

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood— (AP)—Swing music is definitely on the decline. This is the consensus of five top band leaders, all of them protieient in the jive idiom.

I found the bandmen indulging in a torrid jam session for "That's Life", and questioned each on the issue "whither swing"? Only vibraphone king Lionel Hampton attested that hotter music gets a 50-50 break with the sweet stuff in current demand. Colleague Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong said the trend is away from swing. Other comments—

Charlie Barnett: "The public doesn't go for the hot stuff any more. Everything I play has to be danceable."

Tommy Dorsey: "We have to play sweet so they can dance. If they want to just listen, they'll go to a juke box instead of a ballroom".

Benny Goodman: "They still go for swing, if it's good. But most of it isn't very good these days".

Frank Sinatra will put all his other activities aside when he does his priest role in "Miracle of the Bells". He considers it his first dramatic break and will forget his night promotion plans for the present. Enacting a priest did all right for Crosby.

Gene Autry starts his third film under his own banner Aug. 6 and is aiming his new pictures at major theater releases, instead of "Westerns only" houses. Sidney Blackner is portraying Teddy Roosevelt the sixth time in "Ever The Beginning". He tells me he has turned down the role 15 other times so producers won't think that's the only roles he can do. Edward G. Robinson thinks he's had enough of tough roles and is anxious for a comedy. He's playing a crystal-gazer in "The Night Has 1,000 Eyes". Tom D'Andrea plays Dennis Morgan's pal in "To The Victor." He's been pal to almost every Warner star.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington, July 24—Certain powerful forces seem to be at work to revive old bitterness between internationalists and isolationists. You have seen it creeping into the news. If it is successful, it no doubt will destroy unity on American foreign policy, and thus hardly serve the best interests of the United States at home or abroad.

The movement, of course, is wholly unrealistic. Actually, the thinking people on both sides are so close together in what they want to do, there is little ground left between them to fight over, certainly not enough to warrant losing foreign policy unity.

For instance, a rather full economic plan for international policy was laid forth by Gen. R. E. Wood of Sears Roebuck to the congressional economic committee. It was not reported fully enough to be understood. The board chairman of one of the nation's largest merchandising units is rated an isolationist, but his experience and position is as a merchandiser. He knows how to make or sell every consumer item except food and automobiles profitably or he would not be where he is. From that standpoint, he obviously set forth his plan, for there is nothing isolationist in it.

The economic prophets, says Wood, are always wrong. They thought there would be a depression after V-J Day, predicting 7 to 9 million unemployed. But we have only voluntary unemployment today, (the word "voluntary" is of his coinage). They are probably as wrong today. The prophets overlooked agriculture. Wood sells to agriculture through 600 stores. Since the close of the war, he says, the farmers have had the highest income in all history, and reserves of over 22 billion in cash and government bonds. There has been no decline in productivity of agriculture.

A decline in farm prices might come if we stopped feeding Europe, but the increase in our population of 40 millions from 1920 to 1950, plus the fact that people are consuming more food, shows clearly our farm prices are not tied to Europe's needs to any critical extent. This comes from a man whose company lives largely from farm income and therefore must be believed.

Wood wants to feed Europe but not invest America there. You can hardly consider it surprising that an American business man does not consider Europe a good investment. He thinks England, Belgium ad Holland are overpopulated; that their people should emigrate; that western Europe has forfeited by failures its place as the testing economic ground for world trends. Whatever we give them, he says, we should not expect to get back. But there is a good place abroad for American investment. He mentioned "the young and growing countries of south and central America and Canada." Loans to them "if properly applied," he said, "will result in material benefit to those countries and the United States." But loans to Europe cannot really help those countries because they can not be repaid.

This is hardly an isolationist doctrine. You might call it an American hemispheric economic program plus charity to Europe's needy.

Now the Marshall plan, is not far away from that in words which have been spoken so far. The state secretary is going to the Latin American conference with just about this same idea in view: Of Europe, he says that throwing our money around must stop and that the Europeans must help themselves, before they can expect to drain and siphon more from us (Marshall has never said how much). Marshall says we have already sent to Europe $9 billion goods (our total post-war world expenditure runs $19.5 billion).

The bitterness about this subject, therefore, seems to be cropping up among those who wish to pull Marshall further than he has already gone, without taking full cognizance of the realistic approach to our foreign problem which outstanding merchandising leaders like Wood have suggested.

PROBERS TO GENEVA

It's T-Day for 16,000,000—

Washington, July 25 —(AP)— President Truman today declared the war over, insofar as veterans' benefits and a batch of other war and emergency statutes are concerned The chief executive signed a senate joint resolution (SJR 123) making inoperative some 175 laws whose effect was based on the states of war and emergency. But he said some other extraordinary powers must be retained for a time and announced that he has asked Attorney General Clark to continue his studies on the ending of the remaining war statutes In interpretting the 175 acts the resolution says the proclamations of World War II, the limited emergency and the unlimited emergency "shall be construed as terminated and peace established" It is therefore T-Day — termination-of-war Day—for about 16 000 000 war veterans and servicemen It marks the beginning of the end of the educational unemployment and loan-guarantee benefits of the GI Bill of Rights

Frick Sustains Protest—

New York July 25—(AP)— President Ford Frick of the National League today ordered "in the name of common sense and sportsmanship" that the disputed game of last Sunday between the Brooklyn Dodgers and St Louis Cardinals at Ebbetts Field be replayed on Aug 18 thus upholding the protest of the St Louis club The game in dispute was won by Brooklyn 3 to 2 after St Louis claimed Ron Northey had been deprived of an inside-the-park homerun in the ninth inning by the action of umpire Beans Reardon in telling him to "slow down" as he approached third base. Reardon thought the ball had gone into the stands, but it had not, and the Cardinal player was thrown out at the plate. Frick said the game would be regarded as having ended in a 3-3 tie, and that all individual records compiled in the game would stand. One game would be subtracted from Brooklyn's win record and one loss subtracted from the Cardinals' standing. This left St. Louis trailing the Dodgers by five and one-half games, and tied with the Boston Braves for second place in the National League.

Ed Hoyle farm when one wing dipped and struck the ground. Dimmig succeeded in bringing the plane off the ground, but with the wing damaged and dangling, struck the ground on one side of a drainage ditch, bounced into the air, the plane clearing trees which bordered both sides of the ditch, and then crashed in a corn field.

Hicks who was watching Dimmig operate the plane, was first to reach the scene and removed both men, who were unconscious, from the small cabin. Lusz, he said, was strapped in his seat while the pilot was not fastened to his seat. The Jones ambulance was summoned from Dixon and both injured men were rushed to the KSB hospital.

Had Been Hauling Friends

Hicks stated today that Dimmig flew the light plane to his farm yesterday afternoon from the new Rock Falls air field where it is kept, and had been hauling friends from a field in the rear of a barn on the Hicks farm. Dimmig was part owner of the plane and had only recently received his pilot's license, Hicks said, but had not been licensed to carry pasengers.

According to Hicks, Lusz had been one of Dimmig's friends to enjoy a ride in the plane and they appeared to be returning to the landing field in the pasture, when the pilot flying very low and apparently hedge-hopping, misjudged the altitude and one wing struck the ground in the soy bean field on the Hoyle farm Members of the Hoyle family were also reported to have seen the plane flying extremely low and the wing graze the ground, then hang limply from the fuselage.

All of those who witnessed the accident agreed that Dimmig attempted to gain sufficient altitude to effect a landing, but was obliged to raise the plane to clear a grove of trees which bordered both sides of a drainage ditch. Fortunately the plane passed through an opening where the trees were low, bouncing from one side of the ditch to the other, then crashing in the corn field. Donald Smith, a neighbor living near the Hicks farm, also reported seeing the plane's wing strike the ground in the bean field, and seeing the plane bound into the air, over the ditch and crash

Hundreds Visit Scene

Hundreds of cars went to the scene of the crash last night and again this morning spectators thronged the field while planes circled overhead. It had not been decided at noon today what disposition was to be made of the wrecked plane but plans were being considered to dismantle it and haul it to the Rock Falls air field.

At the KSB hospital at noon today, Dimmig's condition was reported by the attending physician to be quite critical Married and the father of five children he was said to be suffering from a skull fracture and numerous other less severe injuries which included body bruises and minor cuts Lusz, married and the father of three children, was conscious but was suffering from severe body bruises and a long gash on the head which required several stitches to close

Al Staelens instructor at the Rock Falls airport where Dimmig received his flying instructions, was today quoted as stating that Dimmig had been warned recently for "buzzing" with planes used by students at the field and added that he was not licensed to carry passengers monoxide gas and the last three bodies found were buried beneath coal and debris.

Cause of Explosion

Cause Not Determined

Harold L. Walker, Illinois director of mines and minerals, said many of the bodies were badly burning, indicating, he said, a fire had broken out following the explosion. The cause of the blast early had not been determined.

During the rescue operations there had been conflicting reports of the total number of men trapped. The rescue teams worked frantically to reach the men in the belief they had been trapped by rock slides and might be alive. However, early today Walker said all 26 men were dead. Earlier Coroner D. J. Clayton of Franklin county said 28 had lost their lives.

The blast occurred within one day of four months from the explosion last March 25 at the Centralia (Ill.) Coal Company's mine which cost the lives of 111 miners.

News of the explosion in mid-afternoon spread quickly through this coal mining city of 13,000 and hundreds of persons rushed to the diggings on the southern outskirts.

Calls Made for Plasma

Rescue crews were hastily organized and calls were put in for extra supplies of blood plasma. Relatives of the miners flocked to the mines. Mrs. Arthur Fritts of West Frankfort, was one of the first at the scene and learned that her husband Arthur, 27, was among the miners trapped. She was taken to a hospital after she collapsed but later returned and was at the mine when her husband's body was brought to the surface.

The Rev. B. P Mongan, Catholic priest of nearby Herrin, recognized three of his parishoners when bodies of 15 miners were brought to the surface Although they were dead he administered the last Sacraments of the church.

Dr. R. W Smith, chief surgeon at the UMW hospital, said the injured miners told him the explosion occurred in an air circulation cut called the "thirteenth east cross cut." Scores of the miners who fled from the diggings after telephone instructions from the surface said they did not know there had been an explosion

Walker told newsmen after he had made an inspection of the mine that he could not "make a guess" as to the cause of the blast.

Gov. Green on Scene

William W Lamont, manager of the UMW hospital, said the injured miners told him that dust ignited by a spark from a motor caused the explosion, and a fire followed.

Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois in Chicago yesterday preparatory to leaving for a brief vacation in California, postponed the trip and drove 350 miles to the scene of the disaster After conferring with state mine officials Green went to the mine and met with mine company officials He did not enter the pit.

Green named Walker state mine director following the disaster at Centralia and a subsequent investigation The No. 8 mine was last inspected on May 29 and "conformed to all state mine safety regulations" the state mines and minerals department said

Yesterday's explosion ranked eighth in major Illinois coal mine disasters since 1883 Five miners were killed at the No 8 mine in December, 1927, while 21 lost their lives in a mine accident in this city on Jan. 9, 1928.

The No 8 mine, which employed 115 men was one of the first sunk in the area and had a daily output of about 4,000 tons a day.

Rescue Called Efficient

Gallagher the state mine inspector told a reporter that rescue work completely within 12 hours "was very efficiently handled" and praised Assistant State Mine Director Robert Weir, who went into the mine with the second shift of workers for doing an "excellent job" of organizing the rescue efforts.

At the small UMW hospital, Manager Lamont said that within an hour after news of the disaster was received, six patients were removed to another hospital, and beds were in readiness for 26 persons.

A few hours later, a state police car arrived with 50 units of blood plasma from Springfield, Ill., dispatched by the state department of public health after a telephone request by Lamont was relayed by The Associated Press.

Governor Green remained at the mine today and conferred with Walker and Weir. He visited the hospital this morning to question the injured survivors.

GAS INDICATED

West Frankfort, Ill., July 25—(AP)—State mine officials today indicated that the explosion yesterday in the Old Ben Coal Company's No. 8 mine which caused the death of 27 miners was due to an accumulation of gas in a non-producing section of the pit.

Governor Dwight H. Green, who arrived here at 3 a. m. (CST) and conferred with state mine officials and later visited the scene of the disaster and met company officials, told newsmen "it (the explosion) couldn't have been the result of dust because of the number of men working who had no knowledge of the explosion."

Then, turning to Harold L. Walker, Illinois director of mines and miners, the governor asked: "what have you got left?"

"Just gas," said Walker, who was named to the post to succeed Robert Medill following an investigation of the mine disaster in Centralia last March 25 in which 111 miners were killed.

James L. Sneddon, of Royalton, state mine safety engineer, told newsmen it was his belief the explosion was "due to gas set off by a spark."

William W. Lamont, manager of the UMW hospital, said the injured miners told him that dust ignited by a spark from a motor caused the explosion and a fire followed.

Governor Inspect' Report

The governor told newsmen he had studied a March 29 state mine inspection report by Inspector Elmer Edmonds who had reported the mine "appeared up to par." Green said the report indicated with respect to rock dusting, that all the state mine laws were complied with and that ventilation was good, "substantially more than required by the state mining laws."

Mine officials directing rescue operations said the bodies of the 26 men were found within an area of 500 feet about a mile and a half south of the bottom of the 500 foot shaft at the main entrance. That section, they said, had not been producing coal but a group of miners had been working in the area at other jobs.

Walker said it was his belief that the explosion was confined to only one area of the mine, and the miners who fled from the pit probably would not have been injured had they remained at their jobs

Green praised Walker for what he described "an excellent job in organizing rescue workers" He said the director's work was "efficient and effective"

ther comment, another committee member said it is likely the former secretary of commerce and head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be asked to tell what he knows about the matter if a search of the Roosevelt files prove fruitless.

Jones was represented by this member as having balked at signing the airplane contract with Hughes, millionaire Hollywood movie producer, and Kaiser, wartime ship builder, until he was given a written memo on the deal.

President Roosevelt ousted Jones from the cabinet in January, 1945, to give the commerce portfolio to Henry A. Wallace.

Army Opposed Contract

The Ferguson committee has been told in testimony taken behind closed doors that the army and navy opposed letting the Hughes-Kaiser contract for plywood planes This contract later was replaced by a contract with Hughes for a photo-reconnaissance ship.

Ferguson has charged that White House "pressure" was brought to force acceptance of the original contract, carried out in part through the Defense Plant Corporation, an RFC subsidiary.

The Michigan senator said however, the committee thus far has received no documents from trustees of the Roosevelt estate in answer to a subpoena served on them.

Both Ferguson and Senator Hatch (D-NM) predicted that the trustees would comply with the subpoena A New York court has ruled that the Roosevelt papers are the property of the government.

President Truman was said to have asked the Department of Justice to determine how far the government should go in releasing the Roosevelt papers but committee members said they believe this has no bearing on the current inquiry.

McCarran's allusion to Republican attacks on the president stemmed from the GOP senators' references to last year's "purge" primary in Missouri's fifth congressional district.

In that race, President Truman endorsed Enos A. Axtell, who won the Democratic nomination from incumbent Roger C. Slaughter. Truman denounced what he called Slaughter's obstructionist tactics toward administration legislation. Axtell was beaten by Albert Reeves, Jr., Republican, in the November election despite the backing of the Pendergast organization.

RESULTS YESTERDAY
Reynolds Wire 12, Knacks 4 (6 innings).
State Hospital 11, Merchants 4.

Reynolds Wire, hot on the trail of its second straight Twilight league pennant, boosted its perfect 1947 record to seven victories by beating down Knacks, 12-4, in six innings at Reynolds field last night.

Once again the home run bugaboo Earl Kelchner's clan seem to have on the Wiremen was in evidence as Knacks hit two over the left field fence in the second for a 4-1 lead.

However, after Reynolds Wire knotted the score with three third inning tallies, they pounced on Jim Devine for seven runs in the fifth to sew up the decision.

"Swede" Youngmark led off the second with his No. 2 homer of the campaign after Reynolds had pushed over a run in the first. Then Leo Whitman banged his No. 2 four-bagger with two men on. It was the seventh homer Knacks had made off Reynolds Wire pitching in 11 innings.

Rucker Homers

Johnny Rucker, Reynolds' no-hit pitcher, opened the third with his second home run of the season, a long drive that cleared the barrier in left center. Before the half-inning was over "Hi" Emmert's boys scored two more runs on Merle Snodgrass' single for a 4-4 tie.

Rucker didn't appear as Knacks came to bat in their half of the third, marking the first time he failed to finish a 1947 tilt in six starts.

Lefthander Armand "Fat" Riopelle took over the mound chores through the fifth, putting the quietus on Knacks. He allowed two hits and no runs to gain credit for the victory. Wint Frey, Emmert's 1946 star portsider, finished up.

Devine Loses in Fifth

Devine held the 4-4 tie until the fatal fifth when the Wiremen shoved across seven runs on six hits, two walks, an error and a couple of passed balls. Devine finally was forced out in favor of Bob Currie, the young southpaw. Currie gave up another superfluous tally in the sixth.

A late start forced cessation of play after six innings.

Pat Patterson of Reynolds Wire continued his vigorous hitting with a perfect performance—four for four. The aggressive backstop also scored three runs and swiped three bases.

Dwight Hintz paced Knacks with two for two, both singles. Knacks now own four victories and three defeats although they retain second place.

You've got to hand it to those Wiremen!

"Hi" Emmert's hardball machine came up against their pestiferous rivals for Twilight league honors—Knacks—again last evening.

If you'll recall the teams' first meeting, a barrage of Knack home runs, five in all, featured play. Yet Reynolds won, 11-9.

Last night the pattern popped up for a second time as Don Youngmark and Leo Whitman bashed second-inning throws over the 278-foot left field wire to give Knacks a 4-1 advantage.

As in the previous win, however, Reynolds rallied to pick up more than enough runs to win, settling for a 12-4 margin.

In chalking up their seventh loop conquest, the Wiremen called on pitching depth. Johnny Rucker, their ace, was batted out for the first time but "Fat" Riopelle and Wint Frey successfully halted the slugging Kelchnerites.

Emmert has won ball games all year mainly on dependable hurling and the finest defense of any local club.

As Rucker said not so long ago: "It's a pleasure to pitch for this club. All you have to do is let 'em hit it. The fielders take care of 'em."

Merle Snodgrass is the class of the Midwest league at first base. He handles the glove like a major leaguer. Johnny Sloan and Bus Carlson, another pair of mean fielders, round out the inner defense.

In the gardens, there's "Red" Ellis, Roy Kuhn, Shires Miller, Cece Gardner and a couple of part-timers. All are nifty on fly balls.

It has been this inpenetrable defense, which also includes Catcher Pat Patterson, that has meant many a ball game. Even with a hitless lineup Reynolds Wire would win consistently.

It's a sweet combo that appears destined to sweep Twilight and Midwest honors.

BOOTED OUT?—Coach Williams of Mooseheart relays the information that Joliet's powerful Second division Junior American Legion champs have been apparently kicked out of the state finals because they employed over-age players to beat Dixon and Waukegan at DeKalb Sunday.

RED FACE DEPT.—They're telling this one about Manager Tom Jordan of the Dixon Junior American Legion:

Jordan was cajoled into umpiring the bases at Mooseheart yesterday when the assigned arbiter failed to show. With a runner on first base, a Mooseheart batter sliced a single into center in the first inning.

Jordan, forgetting for a moment that he was umpiring, shouted to Center Fielder Jim Phelps of Dixon to throw to second, where a close play was shaping up.

Phelps pegged the ball but fortunately the runner beat his throw and was called safe by the flustered Dixon pilot.

The regular ump arrived one frame later, allowing Jordan to retire to the bench. Mooseheart's superintendent of schools was the plate arbiter.

RUMOR DEPT.—Hottest item hanging on the grape vine this morning concerns Al Moeller, the big bespectacled boy who hurls occasional non-league games for the Legion and also does mound work for DHS.

'Tis said Manager Walt Ortgiesen of the Merchants is about to link the Nelson hurler to his Eastern division Midwest league roster.

WHAT'S IN A SCORE?—Out in Creston, Ia., the other night two softball games wound up with lop-sided scores: 34-8 and 37-6. One player on the 37-run team smacked seven hits in eight chances.

Creston's newspaper, the News-Advertiser, is a member of The Telegraph's chain. We pity our sports editor contemorary out there, especially if he's keeping score at those track meeets!

Three Deuces Vs. Wiremen This Evening

Reynolds Wire, leading the wheel with five victories in six starts, goes out to do battle with red-hot Three Deuces at the airport this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the first of two softball games.

The Deuces, despite their tie for third place, are not to be taken lightly. Bill Bushman's lineup was slow in rounding into form, dropping its first three games. But since then, the club has annexed four consecutive triumphs, the loop's best current chain of successes.

Manager "Flash" Fordham is to do the pitching for the Wiremen. He'll be opposed by Joe Curlee. Fordham and Curlee are the only chuckers to post shutouts in league play this year.

Immediately following this game Barrick Steers (4-3) are pitted against the slipping VFW combine (3-5). Barrick will be gunning for a chance to slip into undisputed possession of the No. 3 spot while the Vets hope to regain the elusive winning form they displayed early this season. Either Gerry Arnould, Rheo Riopelle or Manager "Corky" Kernan will throw for the Steers opposite VFW's Paul Van Oosten.

Mooseheart Beats Local Legion Team

Mooseheart, July 25 —(Special)— Mooseheart's hardballers gained revenge for a 10-3 licking at Dixon by coming up with a 6-4 win over Manager Tom Jordan's Junior American Legion athletes yesterday afternoon.

Pitcher Shaver held the Dixonites to six hits as his mates obtained five from Dave Moore, working his first complete game of the season. Six errors led to Moore's downfall.

Catcher Perry Morris of Mooseheart cracked two for two, including a double while Jim Pheips garnered a triple and single for Dixon. Ballotti of Mooseheart walked four times hand running. Mooseheart's big scoring burst came in the first, when three runners tallied.

Transportation for the Dixon team was generously provided by Willard Jones and Harold Cook.

Stan Musial on Upgrade; So Are Cards

(By Associated Press)

Trace the rise of efficiency of Stan Musial with the stick, and you'll find it parallels the rise of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals from their cellar position of not so long ago to their present eminence in third place.

The Cardinals' great first baseman, who ended the 1946 National league season with the most hits, the most doubles and triples as well as a top .365 batting average which helped him win the most valuable player award, got off to his worst start in all of his nine years in professional baseball.

Coincidental with Musial's failure to get many base hits, the Cards also got off to their worst start in history.

The darling of Donora, Pa., began his climb in June—and so did the Redbirds.

Pulls Up To .273

Musial really began to sizzle in July. He swatted the pill for a .325 average to bring his mark up to a current .273. Sparked by his big bat, the Cards won 15 of their 24 games during this month to sweep past the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants into third place. This is Musial's highest batting mark as well as the Cardinals' loftiest position this season.

It was Musial's 10th inning inning single that drove in Red Schoendienst with the run yesterday that gave the Cards a 3-2 overtime victory over the Giants and sent them into third place, only one half length behind the second place Boston Braves.

The front running Brooklyn Dodgers zoomed to their sixth straight win by defeating the Reds in Cincinnati 6-1.

The Chicago Cubs hurdled the Reds into fifth place by defeating the Braves 6-4.

Pittsburgh vacated the National league cellar and dumped the Phillies into that spot by sweeping both ends of a double header from Philidelphia 8-6 and 3-2.

Yanks Trounce Browns

Enjoying their best hitting day of the season, the American league leading New York Yankees pounded three St. Louis hurlers for 20 hits to trounce the Browns 15-4. Jeff Heath slammed homers No. 18 and 19 for the Browns to tie Boston's Ted Williams for the league lead.

The Yanks' first place margin over runner-up Detroit rose to 11½ games when Washington behind the four-hit pitching of Walter Masterson, defeated Hal Newhouser and the Tigers 3-0 at night in the Capitol city.

Bobby Feller became the first American league pitcher to win 12 games when he hurled the Cleveland Indians to a 6-1 victory over the Athletics in Philadelphia.

With Williams smacking his 19th four bagger and Denny Galehouse scattering 10 hits for his fifth win in a Red Sox uniform, Boston trimmed the White Sox 8-2.

Dixon Girls Eke Out 6-5 Victory

Dixon's girls softball unit eked out a 6-5 victory over Ottawa at the airport last evening as they handed the Buc girls their second straight loss.

Pitcher Norene Arnold of the locals limited Ottawa to seven hits while her mates were combing Morello for 15 bingles. Norene also had a perfect night at the plate with three hits.

Another Manville Makes Headlines

(By The Associated Press)

A lad named Manville—Dick, not "Tommy"—was the toast of Evansville, Ind., today and a prominent figure in Three-I league baseball circles.

Manville, a righthand pitcher who recently unpacked his bags in the Hoosier town after a stint with Milwaukee in the American Association, pitched a no-hit, no-run game in blanking the Davenport Cubs, 6 to 0, in the seven-inning opener of a double-header. It was his first start for the Braves.

Only five cubs got on base against Manville, a former Yale pitcher, who became the first pitcher to fashion a no-hitter in Evansville since Lee Hazel accomplished the feat in 1941.

Jewelers Stay Atop Polo Loop

Polo, July 25 — (Special) — Joy Jewelers continue to ride on top of the Polo twilight softball major league standings. The Jewelers have won six in a row for a one and one-half game bulge on second place McGrath-Hersch.

The Cubs are pacing minor league play with four wins and two defeats with the Cards are scant half-game in arrears.

Ashton Girls in Softball Circuit

Ashton, July 25 —(Special)— The Ashton girls softball team has joined a league that includes three teams from DeKalb and entries from Elgin and Byron, Manager "Red" Unger reveals.

Ashton beat the DeKalb Chix in the league inaugural Wednesday evening. League play is to continue into September.

ONE GRAND FISH

Hot Springs, N. M., July 25 —(AP)—You've heard stories about those big fish that got away, so listen now to the tale of George Mackey.

His didn't get away—and just pulling it in netted him a cool $1,000.

Mackey, an Albuquerque bakery employe, hooked the two-pound, five-ounce bass yesterday in Elephant Butte reservoir. It was just a nice catch until he found a tag attached.

That identified the bass as one of 20 worth $1,000 and released in the Hot Springs Sporting club's $55,000 fish derby. The other 19 are still in the lake.

Ohio Man Named Racing "Super"

Princeton, July 25 —(Special) — Wallace Monier of Ohio has been named superintendent of harness racing activities for the 92nd annual Bureau County fair, Aug. 19-22.

Monier succeeds Clifford Thompson, who is no longer a resident of the county.

Department heads named include: Ray Pierson of Ohio, beef cattle; Mrs. Bertha Balcom of Ohio, flowers, plants and birds; Maria W. Smith of Ohio, needlework.

MIDGET AUTO DRIVER DIES ON CURVE OF PHILLY TRACK

Philadelphia, July 25—(AP) — Harry Hart, 42-year-old former Hollywood stunt man and international midget auto racing champion in 1939, was killed last night when his speeding car crashed into a fence while making a turn on the Yellow Jacket speedway one-fifth mile oval.

Hart, a native of Denver, racing out of Tampa, Fla., was attempting to pass George Marshman, Yerkes, Pa., on the 15th and final lap of the semi-final race. The car went into a spin as Hart lost control, crashed into the fence, bounced 10 feet in the air then rolled over several times.

OTHER GAMES

Sterling, July 25 —(Special)— Sterling Township whipped Princeton, 19-2, in an NCIC game and Sterling Community licked Morrison in a non-league test, 20-7, yesterday.

Hospital Continues Surge With Victory

State Hospital rolled to its second straight Twilight triumph, 11-4, over the winless Merchants last night at the hospital diamond.

Hospital received six-hit pitching from Manager Charlie Clutts as the club pounded Roe Grover for 12 safeties. Four runs scored in the third and six more raced across the plate during a wild sixth inning.

Catcher Morris Williams spearheaded the Hospital attack by punching out a single, double and triple in four trips. His namesake, Ralph "Baldy" Williams of Merchants, collected two for three.

Clutts kept Walt Ortgiesen's boys well shackled except for the fourth inning, when the Merchants broke loose to tally twice.

Hospital now has won two of seven while the Merchants haven't broken the victory ice in four starts.

DHS Meets Barbs; Last Home Game

Dixon high school plays host to the defending champion DeKalb nine at Reynolds field this evening at the NCIC hardball schedule struggles down the home stretch.

The 6 p. m. game will be the last of the season for the Barbs, who own six victories as against one defeat, according to Telegraph compilations. Dixon has one remaining contest, at Sterling, Tuesday night. The Dukes' record is one win and six losses.

Other games on tonight's card are Sterling Township at Princeton and Sterling Community at Rock Falls. Ottawa's Buccaneers, loop leaders with an unofficial record of seven wins in eight tries, are given an off night.

Nachusa Batters Church Foe, 35-9!

St. Paul's Lutheran church of Nachusa slaughtered Immanuel Lutheran of Dixon, 35-9, in a four-inning church league softball game at Borden's field last evening.

Winning their eighth game in nine 1947 starts, the Nachusans rapped 22 hits with each player getting one or more bingles. John Wolbart, Ken Naffziger and Lyle Naffziger slammed home runs. Les Naffziger was the winning pitcher.

Darkness halted the one-sided fray after four innings.

Bethel shaded Presbyterian, 21-20, in another free-scoring contest at Lowell park.

Nachusa holds first place in the circuit with four victories in five games. Tied for the No. 2 spot are St. Paul's Lutheran of Dixon, Bethel, Congregational, Grace and Tabernacle, all with three wins and two defeats.

Then comes Immanuel Lutheran, 1-4, and Presbyterian, 0-5.

Harvester-UAW Talks Are Ended by Recess

Indianapolis, July 25—(AP) — Negotiations between the International Harvester company and the United Auto Workers (CIO) for contracts covering 13,000 workers in four plants in Indiana and Illinois were in recess today after two days of conferences.

Another session was scheduled for next Wednesday, but spokesmen for both sides said an earlier meeting might be held.

Involved are plants at Evansville, where 1,400 workers left their jobs a week ago, and at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and Melrose Park, Ill., where employes are still on the job.

Spokesmen said the major block to an agreement was the union's demand for a company waiver on its rights to sue for breach of contract in case of "wildcat" strikes.

The company manufactures farm equipment and trucks.

In the middle of the 19th century, Robert Fortune, an English naturalist, disguised as a Chinese, entered central China and obtained secrets of tea-growing which he passed on to India.

A 35 Lb. Chunk of Ice Bounced $4,000 Bill Into Congress

Railroad Workman Seeks Redress for Injury Flying Ice Caused

By HAL BOYLE

Washington, July 25 —(AP)— Let us consider today a 35 pound chunk of ice that congress agrees should cost the American people $4,000.

It reached this inflationary level after coming forcibly into contact with Citizen Harley Shores under circumstances which led him to believe the United States government was to blame. Anyway he was sure it wasn't his fault.

The case is typical of thousands of personal claims that used to tie up congress before the reorganization bill was passed. This bill now shuttles most such cases originating since Jan. 1, 1945, to the federal district courts for settlement.

It's Complex Matter

But the "case of the high price ice" goes back further. It shows how complex a matter it is to collect from Uncle Sam for damages.

The story begins on Dec. 19, 1943, when Harley Shores was working with a Missouri Pacific road gang near Alma, Ark. As a troop train passed by at 60 miles an hour, a 35-pound chunk of ice fell or was thrown from a kitchen car.

The ice struck the ground, bounced and hit Shores on the left knee—and his troubles with the American government began.

He suffered a fractured cartilage which required extensive hospital treatment and, he said, kept from returning to his 46-cents-an-hour laboring job.

Shores first sued the Missouri Pacific railroad and the jury awarded him damages. But on Jan. 7, 1946, the Arkansas Supreme court reversed this verdict, declaring that the jury had no right to hold the railroad guilty of negligence as the train was under the control of an army officer.

It Takes Time!

So Shores and his attorney decided that same month they had better take up the matter of the bouncing ice cake with congress.

In the 25 months since the accident, Shores informed the legislators in house bill No. 5154, his knee had got no better and he been able to earn only $150.

He said that he needed and operation on his knee to remove the fractured cartilage but couldn't afford one.

Well, I don't know what happened to house bill No 5154, but it must have gotten lost in the shuffle somewhere.

Shores, his knee and the 35-pound cake of ice bobbed up again last January — a year later — in house bill number 640, requesting $5,000 damages.

The War department entered the case on July 3. Secretary of War Robert Patterson wrote the house judiciary committee that yes, he guessed the military authorities on the troop train must have been negligent.

After 42 Months—Success

He said the War department had no objection to enactment of the bill if the damage award was scaled down from $5,000 to $4,000. He figured Shores had lost $2,726.78 in earning, but that from this should be deducted the $1,600 Shores had received in insurance payments of $40 a month for 40 months.

This would leave $1,126.78, and the War department opined that an additional $2,873.22—making $4,000 in all—would compensate Shores for his "personal injury and pain and suffering".

The judiciary committee accepted the War department's compromise, and both the house and senate passed the bill. Now—42 months after the accident—all that Shores needs to collect $4,000 for his game knee is the signature of Harry S. Truman, which will probably be forthcoming any day now, as few private claims of this sort suffer the presidential veto.

No mention is made in the documents as to the fate of the 35-pound chunk of ice that set this gigantic government machinery grinding. Presumably, however, it has melted.

Illinois Lake Transfer Waits Truman's Name

Washington, July 25—(AP) — A bill to transfer administration of the Crab Orchard lake project in southern Illinois to the Department of the Interior was passed yesterday by the senate and sent to President Truman for signature.

The project, to be utilized for industrial, agricultural and recreational purposes, would be administered solely by the Interior department's fish and wildlife division under terms of the measure. Heretofore it has been under the supervision of several agencies.

Rep. Bishop (R-Ill) introduced the bill for the transfer.
